Planning for Pioneer Days hits stride

The Civic Center was buzzing this week with the news that Joe Guppy, writer and comedian of KING TV's "Almost Live," is expected to join the Pioneer Days celebration on August 6 and 7.

"A comedian's life is never certain, but barring hurricanes or a once-in-a-lifetime job offer in L.A. or New York, I will be in Vaughn to celebrate Pioneer Days with my friends on the Key Peninsula," joked Guppy. "I've never been to the Key Peninsula metro area but understand there are a few 'Almost Live' fans there, like Claudia and Dale Loy, the Olsens and Oldenburgs, so it would be my pleasure to get down to some serious celebrating and belly laughing with everyone in attendance."

you can stay up on the SeaFair hydroplane trials and races (compliments of Paulson's K Street store in Tacoma). This is the only location where beer may be consumed on the premises. Food will be available from concessionaires all over the grounds and entertainment - from clog dancers to comedians to folk, rock and country music - will run continuously from noon to 8 pm both days on a stage in front of the Civic Center.

A new 75 x 45 foot arena is under development at the northeast end of the grounds to facilitate the kids games (three-legged race, relays etc.) and the animal show and judging. Bleachers to seat 380 are planned for the arena so that viewing the events will be an enjoyable experience for all.

Park Board opts for Sep. 20 levy election

Issues that are important to the continued operation of Volunteer Park and the Key Peninsula Civic Center will be on the ballot on September 20 this year. That's the date set on Wednesday night, June 7, by the Key Peninsula Park and Recreation Board for an Excess Levy election. The levy will provide operation and maintenance funds for the two civic facilities for the calendar years of 1989 and 1990.

Following a protracted discussion of how small an amount could be asked of the taxpayers and still keep the Park and Civic Center in operation, Commissioner Avon Gay moved that $80,000 be the amount requested. Expenses that must be paid are insurance, heat and light, caretakers' salaries, trash collection, water, fertilizer etc. All the Commissioners seemed to be in agreement that the Board should only request a "bare bones" amount, but they also agreed that without a successful levy there are no financial resources in sight to keep Volunteer Park open after this summer ends.

Regarding the financial issues, Board President Daphne Daus had previously stated that a levy of this amount would probably be in the neighborhood of 20 mills (20 cents per $1,000 of property evaluation), resulting in a cost of about $15.00 (total) to the owner of a home valued at $75,000. A proposed budget, showing how the funds will be spent, will be presented at the Park Board meeting in July, she stated.

In commenting on the upcoming drive to secure passage of the levy, one of the Commissioners remarked that, "It is time for all our residents to join in and share the financial responsibilities of our Civic Center and Volunteer Park. The five Park Commissioners and the Civic Center Board cannot continue to do it all by themselves any longer. If we can't pass the levy this September we just won't deserve to have these facilities available for the use of our residents."

Two school buses bump - no one hurt

Two Peninsula School District buses were involved in a minor collision on the afternoon of May 13 when one bus, driving on wet pavement, bumped into another at the intersection of 118th NW and Highway 302 at Minter Creek. No children were on either bus at the time and no one was injured. Damage to the two buses was estimated at approximately $5,000. One of the bus drivers was cited by the State Patrol, although Roger Anderson, transportation supervisor for the district, said it was the first problem of any type that the driver had experienced in over 15 years of bus driving.

PC Council clamps development limit on Burley-Minter area

Reacting to well-publicized public concerns and continued high pollution levels in bay areas, the Pierce County Council voted 4-2 on June 7 to impose temporary restrictions on development in the environmentally sensitive Burley-Minter watershed area. Seventh District Pierce County Councilman Paul Cyr tells about the action and its background in his article in this issue of the NEWS - recommended reading!

KING 5's JOE GUPPY AT PIONEER DAYS.....Joe Guppy, Emmy Award-winning writer and comedian from KING's "Almost Live" segment, will be the Celebrity Grand Marshal of the 1988 Pioneer Days Parade.

The parade kicks off the two-day celebration, August 6 and 7, at Key Peninsula Civic Center in Vaughn.

"It's really a feather in our caps to have Joe participate," beamed Dale Loy, president of the Civic Center Association. "He will ride in the parade, sign autographs at the Civic Center and be MC for a "Laugh-off" competition. Joe is just one of the ways that Pioneer Days will be better than ever this year!"

(If you would like to participate in the comedy "Laugh-off," please contact Entertainment Chairperson Vicki Henschel at 884-3642.)

It is said that unless an event is growing, it is dying. Well, there is no end to the growth this year in the New Pioneer Days celebration. The tennis courts will be converted into an authentic Beer Garden where adults can get away for a few minutes and unwind. There will be a big screen television set inside (both days) so

Letters from you ...

To the Editor

I have been renting the VFW room at the Civic Center for the last five years to provide a centrally located pre-school on the Peninsula. Circumstances and opportunities have been offered me which no longer make it possible to continue my program.

I want to take this time to express my thanks and gratitude to all who made it not only possible but enjoyable to hold my pre-school at the Civic Center.

The Center Association has provided me with their support and understanding of running a small business. The Key Peninsula Park Board has been responsive and concerned about my needs.
 I have found the Key Peninsula News to be extremely helpful, dependable and professional toward everything I have submitted to them. I would also like to thank Terry and Randy Dalton for always being there when I needed them at 8:30 am. I take great pride and joy in working with young children and am grateful to all the parents who have allowed me to do what I love so much.

Our area is blessed to have a community center which houses so many events and caters to such a variety of needs. The Civic Center needs our support and cooperation to keep it open in the coming years. The passage of the upcoming levy is essential for the continuation of these services. Please support our community.
 Thank you.

Camp Seymour covered pool talks progressing

The survey of Key Peninsula residents who would be interested in using the Camp Seymour swimming pool on a year-round basis if it were covered, taken recently by Mary Seidelman and Anita Dougherty through KP NEWS, shows active interest by some 800 people of different age ranges. Preferences as to time indicated an even coverage of mornings, afternoons, evenings and weekends,
 and included such usages as lap swimming, swimming lessons, diving, water therapy for disabled and other special uses.

Additional surveys were conducted on a face-to-face basis at local stores and by telephone interviews.

The information has been sent by Seidelman to John Morgan, president of Tacoma/Pierce County YMCA, in a letter stressing the importance of such a facility to an area of 12,000 residents, encompassing nine small communities and four schools. She points out the crowded conditions of Peninsula High School's pool, the nearest facility, and the length of time it takes to reach Tacoma and any swimming facility there.

Your Park Board reports

by Daphne Daus

At the June 7
 meeting Commissioner Avon Gay
 submitted her resignation from the KP Park Board effective July 1, stating as her reason that she and her family are moving outside the District. Avon has been a tremendous asset to the Board and most recently has been responsible for heading up the scheduling and preparation of the concession stand at Volunteer Park. She will be greatly missed.

The first tournament of the summer
 was played at Volunteer Park the weekend of June 4. The concession stand was very successful thanks to the efforts of Martha Swanson and the commissioners who worked in the kitchen - Mike Kent, Avon Gay and Max Marlow. The Board
 also wants to thank Tim Kezele and Al Taylor for their ongoing efforts to maintain the field and grounds at the park; their commitment is greatly appreciated. We could not possibly make the fields available for tournaments or youth activities
 this summer without the herculean efforts of the volunteer force.

The Board heard a report by Commissioner Max Marlow on the current financial picture of the District. The picture is grim at best. The Board monitors each expense and projects our fiscal position for two months at a time. With the current figures the District will be able to operate through August with the funds we are generating through the tournaments, concession stand, and monthly rental income from the Civic Center. In July we will project through September. With these figures in mind the issue of a levy was addressed. After much discussion the Board moved to submit an excess levy for inclusion on the September 20 primary election ballot in the amount of $80,000. This amount will be collected in one year and used to operate the Park District for two years. While the amount will be minimal to each property owner it will allow the District to provide much needed services to all Key Peninsula residents. Using these figures Board members are currently preparing a detailed budget which will be presented at the July meeting.

Anyone interested in the vacant
 Board position should contact the Park
 District by sending a letter to KPPRD, PO Box 46, Vaughn, WA 98394, or by contacting any Board member. We would like to make an appointment to this seat at the July meeting.

Also anyone interested in assisting in the levy efforts, or in volunteering their time to work at the Park, are encouraged to contact Daphne Daus at 884-3503.

Remember to make your contribution to the Fireworks Fund in either the collection boxes at our local stores or at Fire District 16 headquarters in Key Center.
 It will not only help pay for our fireworks display - the proceeds will also help purchase much needed special equipment for the use of our firefighters!

Of children, parents and parenting... The children, the summer and what's to do?

by Keith Stiles (Director-Peninsula School Board)

If you have children in your home, it will not be news that school is about to let out for the summer and the children will be home for about 75-85 days until they go back in September. OK, so now what are your plans to make it a good summer experience for YOU and for the kids? In these days, when both parents must work at outside jobs or only one parent is in residence (and a bunch of variations) no one answer begins to solve the problem for everyone, but I believe there are some thoughts that can help.

First on the list is the fact that in this life there are a very limited number of summers that you can share with your children - before you know it they will be grown and gone. Therefore, try to make your summers fun for all and make the most out of them. All too soon these summers will be memories of times gone by.

Second, summers can be important times in the learning process for your child. If you put the twelve normal summers of school life together (end-to-end) they will add up to almost THREE YEARS of time in which your child (or children) COULD BE LEARNING SOMETHING OF VALUE. Does "something of value" have to mean formal math, social studies, English 101 or similar things for the next ten-twelve weeks? Absolutely not, but perhaps you could teach a very young one the alphabet, a middle-group one to grow tomato plants, older boys and girls to drive and properly take care of an automobile. The suggestion is - don't let three years of valuable time in their lives go to waste - make some plans and carry them out - DO SOMETHING WITH THE KIDS!

Third, the schools can't (and should not) be expected to "do it all." Part of the education of a child should include special areas that only parents can really supply. These areas include personal concerns such as (but not limited to) religious training, family history and tradition, special family craft areas that may have become tradition, travel to special places, family visits and the like. Summer is frequently a great time to impart these very special experiences to children.

The three thoughts listed above are principles, not specifics, but I suggest they are true and important to all families. Just how you can apply them in your household will depend on your particular situation and the time, thought and ingenuity you put into the process. If a few specific suggestions might help, give some thought to any of the following:

- Summer school
- Swimming lessons
- A summer-long project that is worked upon a little each day.
- A Summer Scrapbook.
- A series of local trips on a "set-aside day," such as every Saturday.
- Shared trips or parties in rotation with three or four other families
- Specific daily chores for each child.
- A regular family trip to the library each week.
- A letter-writing program.
- A reading program to cover the summer.
- An "End-of-Summer, Back-to-School Party" (suggestion - let the kids plan it and put it on!)

Last of all, if you have MTV videos in your home, throw them in the bay. If MTV comes in via the cable, take an axe to the cable. If that doesn't stop it, pack up the TV and send it to Philadelphia for the summer - your entire family will be better for it! In short, help your children to grow both mentally and physically during the summer and assume the responsibility of seeing that they have worthwhile things to do. Aim to give them a good set of experiences to remember next September when they sit down to write, "What I did during the summer of 1988."

(Ed. note—The views in this story are those of the writer and are not an official publication or release from the Peninsula School system).

Fire District 16 put in a busy May

It might have been cool and damp during May but Fire Department 16 was kept busy just the same. All together the department responded to a total of 72 calls, 60 of them for aid, ten for fire emergencies and two for service.

The aid calls covered a wide range - seven were for injuries from auto accidents, including a head-on crash in the 11500 block of Highway 302 NW that sent two area folks to the hospital with possible serious internal injuries and fractures. Other aid calls resulted from two children who fell out of trees, two pedestrians injured by cars and three people who had to be rescued when their boat capsized and dumped them in the water. The department also dealt with three psychological problems and one suicide.

If you are cleaning up the yard for Spring, the department cautions that some of our trees and bushes aren't really as green as they seem and can burn now, even though it has been rainy and wet. Don't let that "controlled" yard fire get away from you! Watch it closely and have your hose nearby, just in case.

Who had more fun.....kids, teachers or organizing parents? It was a draw!

KP groups award scholarships

Three $500 scholarships were awarded this year to Peninsula High School students by the Key Peninsula Angel Guild. The students are Eric Andersen, Ellen Blankenship and Christine Foundation. Eric plans to attend Whitman College at Walla Walla and hopes to major in English literature with an eye to teaching high school English; Ellen has been accepted at Seattle Pacific University and is planning on a double major - psychology and education;

Christine finds it necessary to work for a year so will attend Tacoma Community College, and then transfer to a four-year university with the goal of majoring in secondary education. The awards were made by Annabelle Evans on behalf of the Guild and congratulations are extended to the students by all the Guild members.

Key Peninsula VFW Post 4990's Voice of Democracy award was presented to Julie M. Benson. She will go on to UPS in the fall.

Pen Hi students receive Army Reserve Scholar/Athlete awards

Scott Baebler and Gretchen Kloepfel, both Peninsula High School students, received the United States Army Reserve National Scholar/Athlete Award on May 26. The medallions, engraved with their names, were presented by Captain Samuel Higgins of the U.S. Army Recruiting Center in Tacoma.

Scott and Gretchen share this honor with winners in high schools throughout the country. Each year the Army Reserve sponsors the program to recognize and honor top male and female high school scholars and athletes across the nation. Both students will graduate this month.

"Buckle Up" facts

Washington State Traffic Safety Commission findings on safety belt usage show that 1987 was one of the safest years on record for Washington highways. The highest safety belt usage rate was among 0 to 5 year-olds who were buckled up 85.6 percent of the time. Lowest usage rate was among 16 to 19 year-olds and, surprisingly, 6 to 15 year-olds weren't much better. Male drivers buckled up 77.8 percent of the time, male passengers 69 percent. Female drivers were better with an 83.3 percent buckle-up rate and female passengers buckled up 75.9 percent of the time.

In the Library

Last fall the Key Center Library, via the Friends, was the recipient of $1200 from the Angel Guild for the purchase of three items: an information display stand, a bench and a cassette tape holder. All three items have been handcrafted by Terry Lay of T. Lay's Custom Cabinets in Key Center with the assistance of Michael Emmons. The information display stand and the bench are presently at the library. They are unusually handsome pieces. The Library staff and the Friends extend their appreciation and thanks to the Angel Guild for this generous gift.

The affirmative vote for bond monies last fall has already resulted in additional shelving units, a larger collection of materials and a remodeled public desk for the Key Center Library. By next year a totally new branch for the Peninsula/Gig Harbor area will be in place and will serve as a regional resource for Key Center Library users. A brochure updating bond money utilization is available at the library.

Rep. Ron Meyers holds public meeting

State Representative Ron Meyers (D) is inviting residents of the 26th Legislative District to join him in a Town Hall meeting at Port Orchard on June 18. The meeting will run from 10 am to noon at the South Kitsap High School, 1297 Mitchell Road S.E., Port Orchard.

Rep. Meyers will summarize the events of the past legislative session and discuss issues to come up in the next. He will also field questions from the public.

It's pretty strange in So. California!

It's still a jungle out there on the Los Angeles freeways...About ten days ago a lady went strolling down the highway without her clothes in the very early morning air. Two male drivers crashed their cars while watching her instead of the road. When the paramedics arrived they put her in the ambulance and went to take care of the two guys. Still nude, the lady got out of the rear of the ambulance, jumped in the front seat and drove off - northbound in the southbound lanes of the Glendale Freeway, where she promptly ran into a bread truck. Police said no one was seriously hurt, but they had to cite the lady for being just a little drunk.

We the people

by Paul Cyr,
Council member,
District 7

On June 7 the Pierce County Council passed an emergency ordinance adopting interim zoning regulations and maps for the Burley/Minter Drainage Basin Water Quality Plan area. My column for this month is a brief history and discussion of this subject.

As you may recall, in the late 1970's the Department of Social and Health Services noted a significant rise in fecal coliform levels in the Burley Lagoon. Fecal coliform bacterial counts continued to rise and in 1981 Burley Lagoon was decertified for commercial harvesting of oysters. In 1982 Minter Bay was similarly decertified and as of today, these two embayments remain decertified.

From the time the problems began to surface in the late 1970's an ongoing effort has been taking place to identify and correct the pollution problem. Beginning in November 1978 the Pierce County Board of Commissioners and the Tacoma-Pierce County Board of Health passed a resolution designating Burley Lagoon, Minter Bay and their associated watersheds as "Sensitive Areas" pursuant to State Law (RCW) Chapter 197-10 of the State Environmental Policy Act. The effect of this resolution has been more stringent requirements placed upon the installation of new on-site sewage systems within these drainage basins. In addition to the designation, Pierce County and Kitsap County established the Sensitive Area Technical Committee (SAC). The group was charged with further assessing the management tools available to protect commercial shellfish operations and recommending actions necessary to bring water quality to acceptable levels. In September 1981 the SAC recommended that Pierce and Kitsap Counties address the interjurisdictional concerns of water quality problems together. Throughout 1981 and into 1982 DSHS, Pierce County and Kitsap County conducted numerous investigations to determine the sources of the fecal coliform contaminating the estuaries. In March 1984 the Washington Department of Ecology completed a one and one-half year study within the Burley/Minter watersheds. A DOE report entitled "Sources Affecting the Sanitary Conditions of Water and Shellfish in Minter Bay and Burley Lagoon" is the result of that study.

The study identified the main contributors to fecal coliform contamination as failing on-site septic systems, wastes from domestic animals and sediments that wash into surface water with the rain.

Pollutants from these sources are referred to as "nonpoint." That is, water pollution that cannot be traced to a specific spot and is typically defined as not being discharged through pipes.

The Washington Department of Ecology Water Quality Study, the Soil Conservation Service and local conservation districts continued to provide technical assistance to residents who desired to improve animal keeping practices. Many projects, including fencing of creeks, storm water runoff control and better pasture management were completed during this time. In 1984, in anticipation of the completion of the Washington Department of Ecology Water Quality Report, Pierce and Kitsap Counties contracted with a private consultant, Jones and Stokes, Inc., to prepare an assessment of nonpoint source pollution management approaches for these watersheds. The assessment concluded that the most effective long-term solutions to the problems in the watersheds was to implement regulatory measures to manage drainage, animal keeping practices and on-site septic systems. In 1985 Pierce and Kitsap Counties received grants from the Washington DOE for the purpose of developing the "Basin Water Quality Plan." This plan was developed by a citizen review committee, commonly called the CRC, whose purpose was to prepare and recommend strategies to Pierce and Kitsap Counties. The Sensitive Area CRC was appointed by Pierce County Executive Joe Stortini and the Kitsap County Commissioners. Another purpose of the CRC was "to recommend methods to restore water quality and provide citizen input on possible pollution control programs to be part of the Basin Water Quality Plan." Plan development took over five months of public meetings with the CRC and produced the "Burley/Minter Drainage Basin Water Quality Plan." This plan was presented to the Pierce County Council for adoption in late 1987 and was approved by the Council on January 12, 1988.

At the urging of the Citizen Implementation Committee (CIC), I sponsored an ordinance to establish interim regulations to govern the implementation of the Burley-Minter Plan. These regulations will limit growth in the Sensitive Area for the next nine-month period, specifically until March 1, 1989. The provisions of these regulations specify: (1) A minimum lot size for new residential development proposals of two acres, except for duplexes which will require a minimum lot size of four acres; (2) No new commercial development during the interim regulation period and; (3) Expansion of existing commercial development will be allowed up to a maximum of 25% of the lot size. These interim regulations were adopted as a result of input from concerned citizens who have spent a great deal of time and effort in developing and

KPBA News

by Mary Ann Huntington

Have you entered the Key Peninsula Business Association Pioneer Days parade? An application is in today's edition of the NEWS. Help us make this the longest parade we have ever had. Get out the hay wagon, decorate your old truck, put streamers on your bicycle, volunteer to be a pooper scooper, dress the whole family as pioneers, push your baby in a stroller, show off your pet, put the top down on your convertible, advertise your business or saddle up your old gray mare. These are just a few ideas to get you started. Let your hair down and join the fun!!!

Check with Dale Loy at Sunnycrest Nursery about renting a booth at the Civic Center. Don't pass up an opportunity to sell your world famous chili, cookies, pottery etc.

The KPBA will be selling strawberry shortcake covered with whipped cream. We will also have free balloons for the kids and Visitor Guides for the whole family to enjoy.

Look for Pioneer Day Parade buttons to go on sale soon for only $1 each. They make great conversation pieces, so make sure you buy one.

Mike Salatino from the Civic Center was guest speaker at the June 3 meeting. Pioneer Days will be a two-day event this year, August 6 and 7. The committee is really planning an extravaganza with "kids" being the main theme. The raffle prizes consist of a trip to Mazatlan, four cords of split wood and a 19" color TV with remote control. Support the Civic Center by buying lots of raffle tickets.

Put August 18, from 6 to 8 pm, on your calendar for our second KPBA "after-hours" social. The Longbranch Chowder House is our host.

Pat Blundell, owner of the Country Mouse, has been in the hospital. The KPBA says "Get well soon, Pat."

Marty Dixon of the Pierce County Planning Commission will be the guest speaker at our June 17 meeting, 7:30 am at The Eatery. Join us for breakfast.

Altrusa Club to present Women's Scholarship

The Altrusa Club of Gig Harbor will present its second annual Adult Women's Scholarship this August. Last year the award, a $500 scholarship, went to Barbara Fredricson. This year's recipient will also receive a $500 scholarship.

Application forms are available at TCC (Gig Harbor Campus), the Chamber of Commerce Office in Gig Harbor, D.J.'S Mini-Mart and the Gig Harbor Branch of the Pierce County Library, and must be received by Altrusa Club of Gig Harbor, 1508 Stone Drive, Gig Harbor, WA 98335 by July 29. For more information call Pat Jones at 851-6611.

Citizens Against Crime

by Stella Retherford

Deputy John Jimenez and Jamie, a narcotics detection dog, gave an impressive demonstration of sniffing out drugs for the approximately fifty persons present at the June 2 meeting of Citizens Against Crime. Deputy Jimenez has only one fully-trained, female, black Labrador Retriever now in service but there are several other dogs in training.

Jamie is 98 percent efficient in detecting such drugs as cocaine, amphetamines, marijuana and heroin. She can even "sniff out" marijuana growing areas by the smell of the vented exhaust fumes from greenhouses or basements. She has been used in several schools to roam for half an hour along rows of lockers when students are in classes.

Jamie's only reward for this valuable service is playing with her favorite ball. She has been excellently trained by Jimenez and a gentle word from him controlled her movements through the CAC crowd. She appears as gentle as a family pet but the deputy pointed out that she is also trained to protect him. He can command her to attack or, should persons approach him threateningly, she becomes vicious. She and all narcotic detection dogs are females chosen from the Humane Society and trained for at least three months.

After John and Jamie left, new secretary Marty Sorlie was introduced and Henry Stock showed the new CAC buttons that are now available. Henry has accumulated $600 in contributions to help the effectiveness of the CAC program.

Mary Holt, chairperson of the Youth Hotline Committee, recommended that the Sheriff's free numbers be placed on all public telephones. Young people and others need to know that calls reporting suspicious activities can be made anonymously to the Sheriff's office. That number is 1-800-562-9800. The number for the Purdy Sheriff's Detachment is 857-3700.

To date, 761 calls have been taken by volunteers at the Purdy Sheriff's office - 61 were emergencies (termed "priority") and 8 of these resulted in felony arrests. In Renton, where a similar system is being tried, burglaries have been decreased 60 percent.

On June 8 another class of volunteers completed their training, so now there are 80 persons ready to aid the Peninsula Sheriff's office. With volunteers serving four-hour shifts on phone duty, deputies are released for surveillance in our area. Besides providing a needed service, volunteers have the opportunity to become familiar with the functioning of our law enforcement system, the personalities of the professionals and an understanding of the problems they face.

The next monthly meeting of CAC will be on July 7 at 7 pm in the Gold Room, Vaughn Civic Center. A program on some phase of local law enforcement is planned. If you have questions concerning this service organization, call Mel Oliver at 857-2654, Hugh McMillan at 884-3319 or the Purdy Sheriff's Detachment at 857-3700.

Public Notice

Lake of the Woods Community Assn. Lead and drinking water

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. There is currently a standard of 0.050 parts per million (ppm). Based on new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly.

Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women.

Lead levels in your home drinking water are likely to be highest:

- * If your home or water system has lead pipes, or
- * If your home has copper pipes with lead solder and
 - if the home is less than 5 years old or
 - if you have soft or acidic water or
 - if water sits in the pipes for several hours.

If your drinking water is tested and found to contain high levels of lead or if it is suspected that plumbing contains lead, some simple actions can reduce the lead content: Use cold tap water for drinking, cooking etc. - hot tap water may contain higher levels of lead. If building or remodeling, use plastic pipes or copper pipes joined with lead-free solder. Lead-free solder is now required by law. If water has not been used for over 6 hours, flush the pipes for about 2 minutes.

Note: Lake of the Woods Assn. does NOT use lead solder in its well installations and the water is sampled and tested once a month.

If you have questions about lead in your drinking water or if you want a list of labs that will test for lead, call R.M. Keizur (Lake of the Woods Community Assn.) at 884-3566 or call EPA's toll free number: 1-800-426-4791.

Local firm heads into international trade market

All the world can be a market! At least that's the view at Lakebay Lumber which has entered into a new venture -shipping container-loads of specially selected lumber direct to customers in Japan. One of the company's new customers is Sekisui House, Ltd., with local offices in Bellevue, Washington. According to the brochure the company publishes, Sekisui offers residents of Japan a number of beautiful, modern design American-style houses that can be built on-site in Japan with materials shipped directly from the United States. Lakebay Lumber co-owner Tom Edwards told the NEWS that American-style houses are now considered very desirable in Japan but are very, very expensive when compared to the cost of houses in this country. "The Japanese buyers," he said, "are very quality conscious when it comes to materials and they insist on getting the right thing for their projects."

In securing business of this type Lakebay Lumber has achieved one of the major aims of others in the lumber business, that of shipping finished lumber materials to Japan rather than sending out raw logs for overseas processing

Lakebay Lumber is located at Minter Village on Highway 302, between Key Center and Minter Creek.

Mom buys a car

Mom had decided to buy an automobile. And why not? Times were tough. The $25 she had stashed away somewhere would go a long way. Sid and I were all for the idea. Our brains went into high. We promoted the thought of her happily driving herself all over. Secretly we had other thoughts about the driving.

An elderly gentleman who lived nearby had a near-new model T Ford touring car sitting in his chicken house. It had been there for several years. We kids often admired it through a knothole when the sun was just right. The vehicle was kept shiny and the tires were kept pumped up, but it just sat there. That worried us.

The Ford had only travelled from Bert Uddenberg's in Gig Harbor to Home, where it now sat. The trip to Home had been so traumatic that the owner had never gotten his nerve up to drive the car again. He had managed to get from Gig Harbor to the Purdy Spit before an on-coming car scared him over the bank onto the beach. A team of horses hauled him back up before the tide came in, which was lucky.

There were two more nerve-shattering experiences before the car finally reached the Highway Garage at Longbranch. "Hack" Curl hauled it in with his wrecker. With the bends and dents made by another heavier car and a wandering tree removed, one of the Curl brothers drove the car to Home where it rested until Mom began to worry about the $25 she had saved up.

Sid and I put some gas in the tank, crawled under to check the oil, kicked the tires and were ready to "start 'er up." With the coils and plug wires dry and a couple of priming yanks on the crank the motor started and ran as good as new.

Sid drove the car home with Mom sitting proudly in the front seat. The whole family greeted them as they drove into the yard. That was a big day for Mom:

A Woman's Heart

by Elaine Forch

It's graduation, celebration and summer party time again. I love a good party and so do my kids. My teenage "party days" are some of the best memories I have, so I always encouraged my kids to join in the fun - as long as they understood that some things were not allowed. Drinking was definitely not allowed.

I'm pretty rigid about this issue because alcohol scares me, especially when you mix it with kids and driving. With all the reports constantly coming at us from the media about car accidents, maimings and deaths, I don't understand how any parent can be casual about children and alcohol, let alone condone its use or supply it. That's why I was so shocked at a recent incident at a local grocery.

I was standing in the check-out line waiting my turn. A middle-aged man and a young boy, who looked about sixteen, were being checked out. Among their groceries were several cases of beer which the boy carried out to the car as quickly as they were rung up. With the last case in his arms, he turned to the man and said, "Thanks, Dad. See ya in a couple of days." The father replied, "Have a good time, son. Don't drive if you're too drunk, now." I must have been staring at him because he turned to me and explained, "Kids! Wish all I had to worry about was having fun!"

Later I wished I had said something or done something to stop the boy. He was an accident waiting for a place to happen. It was obvious that he was a minor because his dad had to buy his beer for him. I was just so shocked to see a parent not only allowing his son to drink but encouraging it that my mind was numb. I wonder if, somehow, that parent had missed all those news reports about car accidents due to kids drinking and driving. Was he truly ignorant of the statistics and the facts, or did he simply not care? I can't think of any other explanation.

Car accidents aren't the only worry. Alcohol is a powerful substance that can all too quickly become an addiction. I've seen too many lives and families destroyed because of alcohol abuse. Kids are curious, I know. They will sometimes experiment with alcohol to satisfy that curiosity or in order to participate in the "ritual of passage" into the adult world. When parents approve and encourage their kids to use alcohol it seems to speed up the entire scenario. The consequences come fast and hard.

I don't know if my kids experimented with alcohol. I suspect they did, although I never saw any evidence of it. But they are adults now and they can drink if they want to. They don't seem to want to, at least not enough to be noticeable. I'm relieved, they are bright young people with glorious futures ahead of them. They have places to go and things to do and alcohol just doesn't fit in with their plans.

But still I'm worried. What if my kids run into someone like that young sixteen year-old boy, who's still drunk from a night of partying on beer supplied by his loving father, while they are on their way to go places and do those wonderful things?

I should have done something to stop that boy!

50th Wedding Anniversary!

Jean and Hugh Humphreys of Longbranch recently celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary at a reception at Longbranch Church organized by their two sons, Bob and Edwin Humphreys, and their families.

The Humphreys were married in Seattle in 1938 and for 25 years Hugh was employed at Sears & Roebuck. He then worked in the television industry on Mercer Island and later installed TV systems at Longbeach, McChord Field, Aloha and Pacific Beach, retiring in 1977.

The Humphreys purchased their Longbranch home in 1960, permanently settling there in 1970. Jean has been active as a Red Cross driver for the Gig Harbor Senior Lunch and is now active in the Longbranch Church, Bayshore Garden Club, Peninsula Neighbors, Nutrition Program, Historical Society and Community Action. Jean was also a nominee for the 1988 Key Peninsula Citizen of the Year.

Joining the Humphreys and their family in the Northwest were a cousin, June Henderson from San Antonio and friends, June Woodworth from Mesa, Arizona, and Corinne Van Raden from Portland, Oregon. Son, Bob, chartered a Grayline bus to bring former neighbors, friends, co-workers and relatives from Seattle. A delicious salad lunch was served by the Longbranch Ruth Circle.

Congratulations, Jean and Hugh!

First prize is a trip for two to Mazatlan, Mexico, for 8 days and 7 nights of fun (airfare, hotel on the beach, transfers, taxis, welcome cocktails included). Second prize is a truckload of firewood (4-5 cords) cut, delivered and stacked free within 20 miles of the Civic Center. Third prize is a beautiful 19-inch color television with wireless remote. Tickets are now on sale through the Civic Center Association Board members and also through many community organizations and businesses on the Peninsula. Organizations wishing to sell these tickets to help their own organizations fund-raising efforts should contact Mike Salatino at 851-4556 immediately. Tickets are limited.
