Plans for the last Work Party of the year have been set for Saturday, November 3 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. according to Bob Schottland, Chairman of the day.

Several projects have been planned including (1) Putting up acoustical tile in the hallway of the main entrance, steam cleaning the rugs, cleaning the windows in the Gold Room and the office, planting new shrubs in front of the new restroom area and fixing the sump in the back of the center.

Everyone is invited to attend and lend their personal talents and skills to the successful completion of these projects as well as several other smaller and individual jobs which need to be done.

Residents planning to attend may contact Bob Schottland 884-2951 and plan to bring something for the pot luck lunch and your own tools.

GLAD TIDINGS

Margie Cantwell, with the help of her mother, Anna Reid and her sister Ruth Kraft, will open her Glad Tidings Christmas Shoppee at Burley on Monday, October 1st.

The shop, located behind the Burley Post Office (3/4 mile north of the Western Farmers' Co-op) will be open from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays until after Christmas.

The shop is named for the Glad Tidings passenger boat that plied our waters earlier in the this century. The shop reflects Margie's interest in local history. Her family has been in the Burley area since the turn of the century.

Your pre-Christmas season will be enhanced by a visit to Glad Tidings. Many items are handcrafted by local residents such as the carved wooden trains, hand-painted glass balls, turquoise jewelry, dolls, and stained glass.

In addition, you will find antiques, imported tree ornaments, baskets, mobiles, swags, plants and many gift items. Margie accepts crafts on consignment, too. For further information, call 857-2350 or 876-4693.

She will have an Open House on Monday, October 22. At that time, you may place orders for special items. There will be a drawing for a free hand carved wooden tain and a sale on selected pieces of Christmas craft.

KEY CENTER DRUG STORES OPENS

Kathy and Jim McMahon are greeting their first customers this week at the Key Center Pharmacy, which is more than just a pharmacy. They carry a wide line of items from camera equipment to small appliances, plus such sundries as first aid and beauty supplies.

We welcome the McMahons and their new business to our community.

Our Pres Sez

When one examines the excitement and thrill of landing a fish of any size, you can double the amount of pleasure when you're thinking about a youngster, who is a winner in a fishing contest. Although our annual Salmon Derby did not produce the largest fish ever caught on the peninsula, there is the self-satisfaction and personal pride in catching anything which just proves your willingness to try to win.

In our country a philosophy has developed over the years "that everyone has to be a winner." It makes it extremely difficult for parents, grandparents, brothers, sisters, relatives and friends to cope with losing. Who wants to be a loser? No one! But we honestly have to admit to our young people, that in every phase of growing up, we must be prepared to meet defeat.

This nation has proven time and again that it has outstanding champions--in sports, science, industry, business and other areas too numerous to mention. We seem to be coming out of sorry loss in Vietnam and although it will never be forgotten completely, like so many other events, it will fade out of our immediate concerns.

As a group, Americans have been through trying times and adverse conditions. Certainly all of us are aware that inflation, energy and our weakened value of the dollar are cause for deep concern. We now, more than ever, need to prepare ourselves as well as our young people, to shift the gears a bit. We have been "riding high" for more than a generation, we have been leading "the good life," we have grown accustomed to prosperity.

Now with the shift in the economy, we can soon begin to see a slowdown and one of the most serious problems for us to address is how to cope with the situation and come out a winner. It will not be easy. In the next year or two, we may see people losing their jobs, their homes and their personal possessions. We may even see some of the horror that struck in 1929 when the stock market collapsed and although we know that certain safe guards have been built into the financial institutions since the last depression, it is also possible that personal wealth both large and small will be affected.

What can we do to help ourselves as well as the young people to prepare for such hard times? We need to be trained. We need some guidance. We need to know what kinds of alternatives we have at our disposal.

As adults, we often forget that we once had to learn to walk before we could run, that all of us fell down when we first learned to skate, we all fell off the bicycle our first time on it, the first time out on the road.

We cannot anticipate all the hardships young people will have to face in the years ahead. All we can do is to prepare them in the best way we know how to develop that self-reliance, self-esteem, that which is strong and hard enough to handle the shocks ahead, to develop character.

We need to spend time listening more to young people and discussing problems at home, at school and in the community. We need to involve them in making decisions, even if they are wrong decisions.

We need to remember, ourselves, that no person has all the right answers and learning by doing and taking the consequences is still an acceptable way of learning.

There are so many ways we can help ourselves and the young people with whom we come in contact. It would take years to cover the entire topic, so let me make the job a little easier. Here are some tips to share with those who are still looking for some answers:

1. THINK POSITIVELY. Negative thinking is depressing.
2. SMILE. It's one way you can cheer up yourself as well as others.
3. COMPLETE THE JOB YOU START. How many times have you left something undone--never to come back and finish it?
4. BE HONEST. With yourself most of all and then with those who are close to you and with those people you deal with.
5. TAKE RESPONSIBILITY. Assume your fair share of the burdens, in the home, the office and in your community--too many people want "George" to do it. Unfortunately he can't do it all!
6. USE YOUR FULL POTENTIAL. We all have more energy, thoughts and actions than we use. Put them to work every-day, not just once or twice a week.

7. BE SINCERE. If you say something, mean it! Don't say it just to hear yourself talk.

8. BE KIND. We have all witnessed too much hatred, bitterness and loneliness.

If we all try to put ourselves together in a straight and solid manner and the time comes when we have to take a few blows, we will be in much better shape to handle the situation than if we let ourselves and our bodies become feeble, flabby and weak and find it too difficult to stand the tension, pressure and hard times which may be ahead.

Get your strength together now! Prepare yourself, your family and your friends for the future. Take every precaution you can. Prepare everyone who is close to you for the worst. Being strong and being prepared can make you a better winner and help you through the difficult task when you have to be a loser.

SCHOOL BOARD HIGHLIGHTS

Following an update of the State Board approval of the Discovery Elementary School and Key Center Middle School construction projects, the Board unanimously approved the call for bids for the construction of these schools and authorized the superintendent to proceed with all the necessary forms and documents as expeditiously as possible.

The bid opening will be held Thursday, October 4, and the Board will consider and award the contract at the regular meeting of October 9.

If everything can proceed as scheduled, construction at both sites can begin in November, 1979. The construction process usually takes about 14 months, until the building is actually completed and ready for occupancy. Target date for both buildings is February, 1981.

The next regular Board Meeting is Tuesday, October 9, at 7:30 in the administration building near Purdy Elementary School.

DARE AT ROCKY BAY

It is being recognized that in addition to food and lodging, all people need an incentive to live to stay healthier and happier. Opportunity of choice, being able to maintain personal dignity, respect for oneself, realization that someone cares--all these qualities put meaning into life and these are what DARE works toward.

DARE is a non-profit, privately owned organization composed of a team of professional therapeutic recreation personnel. All are experienced in motivating the aged, ill and handicapped to a meaningful personalized involvement in living and are dedicated to improving the quality of recreation in health care facilities.

Their purpose is to help specialized recreation personnel provide a comprehensive, diversified, social and recreational program for residents of health care facilities through supplementary leadership training and program services. DARE provides a social and recreation program in 18 nursing homes and health care facilities in King and Pierce Counties, including Rocky Bay Home near Vaughn.

DARE makes available a wide variety of services which are tailored to help recreation personnel meet the needs and interests of the people they serve. Its services are divided into three categories: Leadership Training - Inservice workshops, consultation, resource information and referral services for staff; Program Activities - Community dances, parties, special events at the DARE facility with some transportation provided, providing specialists to facilities to fulfill specialized roles in existing programs, and a trip tour schedule; Availability of Equipment - Loan of specialized program and audio-visual equipment.

PAUL TOBIE, ROCKY BAY RECREATION DIRECTOR PRESENTS PLAQUE OF APPRECIATION TO MEMBERS OF D.A.R.E. STAFF

Making satisfying experiences available to the handicapped and older adults encourages them to look forward to the future and to do all they can to help themselves. Meaningful experiences encourage people to move from a depressed state to one of optimism. DARE motivates people to live, rather than to just exist. As Longfellow so ably put it.... "Something remains for us to do or DARE, even the oldest tree some fruit may bear."

The Rocky Bay staff and residents had an Open House and tea on August 26th to honor the DARE staff for their continuing efforts to help the residents. The Recreation Director, Paul Tobie, presented them with a plaque of appreciation from Rocky Bay and several other Pierce County facilities which they serve. Those receiving the award were Mary Ann Truitt, Director of the Organization, Sharon McIntyre, Mimi Bakke, Sue Hoff and Arylo Shampo. Mike LaPaglia, owner of Rocky Bay Facility, played the piano for the occasion and special treats were served by food service specialist Sue Shattuck. Other Rocky Bay staff on hand were Judy Leaf, Kathy McNellis, Madeline Ferguson, Viann Borgman, Darlene Butchco, Vickie LaPaglia.

DARE stands for Diversified Activities And Recreation Enterprises. It is financed by Bingo played at their own facility in Lakewood off S.W. 100th Street.

Reading is FUN-damental=new library theme

READING PROGRAM AT EVERGREEN

Reading is fun as well as fundamental. That is the idea that Sandy Robinson is bringing forth through the school library system in our school district. She is a learning service specialist (coordinating librarian) for the Peninsula School District who is a consultant, facilitator, catalyst, fighter for adequate materials for school children.

She brings to the attention of the administration the individual library needs for all the schools, not only books but art prints, film strips, records, cassettes, video tapes and read-along tape books which add up to a total learning experience for students.

Sandy is a qualified School Librarian with teaching experience. She received her B.A. and Masters degree at the University of Oregon. The Robinson Family moved here from Oregon one year ago. Her husband John is the principal at Evergreen School.

The Board of Directors passed a resolution at their September 11th meeting proclaiming Thursday, October 11 as READING IS FUN DAY in the Peninsula School District. District Library Services staff members are working with the elementary library technicians, as well as middle and high school librarians to plan special activities and displays to emphasize the importance of reading as a regular part of each day.

One district-wide activity will be the READ-IN--every student and staff member is encouraged to take a minimum of fifteen minutes to participate in a reading activity. It is a voluntary project, but 100% participation is the goal.

Of real importance to our area is the new library facility at Evergreen School. Sheryl Scolman is the Library Technician there. Every class spends time in there each week. She is teaching them life-long reading habits as they learn to use the library and find that a whole new world can open up to them.

SHERYL SCOLMAN, LIBRARY TECHNICIAN WITH HER EVERGREEN LIBRARY CLASS.

The library is open to small groups and individuals all day. The school library experiences the advantage of having the children right there; it is a part of their curriculum. Many new books are now at Evergreen with plans for more. The public is encouraged to donate appropriate ones to the Parents' Group Book Sale to be sorted for library use. That sale will be October 27.

The library program includes planned expansion of the collection, recreational reading for children, (fiction, hobbies, etc), reference materials for reports, complementary materials to correlate with the classroom curriculum, and assistance in helping teachers select and find material.

Through Reading Is Fundamental, Inc. a free book will be given to each child at Evergreen on October 11th. It is in connection with the International Year of the Child, also. This program shows that books are more than libraries, that they are for many settings. Many parents wonder how they can inspire their children to read more. One way is to have a good variety of material at home for them. Also to help them make use of the libraries in the vicinity.

Here is a list of books recommended to help parents encourage their children in reading:

"Books and the Teenage Reader" by G.R. Carlsen

"Hooked on Reading" by D.N. Fader

"A Parent's Guide to Children's Reading" by Nancy Larrick

"Adventuring with Books" "Books for You" both from the Nat'l Council of Teachers of English.

"Reading ladders for Human Relations."

Periodicals with good book reviews are Horn Book for children and Booklist for adults.

1/2 MILES ON CREVISTON DRIVE - 1ST

Fall is upon us and with it the change of the seasons is evident. The season changes and we change, bringing the hope for new horizons and new growth. Part of that growth for the Clinic is a move to a new location.

Moving? Yes! As previously rumored the Clinic will be moving to Key Center and sooner than we thought. We will be across the road from Fire District #16 Headquarters and will hopefully be there in one or two months. WATCH FOR US!

You can help! Volunteers are needed for renovating the new facility in Key Center. Carpet cleaners, painters, plumbers, electricians, carpenters, moving vans and cheering squad are needed. Call us if you can help or just to give us a word of encouragement at 884-2757.

To all of our friends at Longbranch, who have supported us so whole-heartedly through the past seven years—THANK YOU! With the move to Key Center we will miss the serene Longbranch area but we trust that we will not miss any of our many friends at our new location. Thanks again for the years of support.

Growth? We are pleased to introduce our new business manager, Lester Lucht. We are looking forward to his direction and support.

Flu Vaccine! Fall is here. The Pierce County Health Department has again provided us with the vaccine for this year's flu bugs. We encourage all adults over the age of 25 to come in any time on Fridays or call for an appointment.

Congratulations to Dean Shriner, our Family Nurse Practitioner on receiving his National Board Certification in his specialty which is Family Health Care.

Blood Drive! All you good people who were able to donate blood last April and all who didn't get the opportunity, raise your shirt sleeves. On November 3rd the KPHC and Fire District #16 are again sponsoring a Blood Drive to be held at the Key Center Fire Station from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. All donations are for Key Peninsula residents. Please call 884-2757 for an appointment.

Our hats are off!!! to Karen Weber of Longbranch. A few words of appreciation are in order for her. This person has set a remarkable example of service to our community and the KPH Clinic. We thank you, Karen, and wish you the best in the years to come in your new projects.

20 YEARS EXPERIENCE

THE PURPLE BERRY KNOCKER

October is a turning point for true natives of huckleberry country. The swallows are gone. Summer people have loaded up the traffic and rolled it back to town. The boom of the hooter, (blue grouse) is replaced by a new sound.

Bang bang, thump thump, the purple berry knocker now prowls the brush and trails. It is from 18 to 24 inches long. It attaches itself to a human hand, which it violently drags behind. It attacks huckleberries, spiders, stinkbugs, trash and leaves, which fly wildly through the air, sometimes landing in a number 2 washtub attached to the neck of the human slave it is leading. This unfortunate creature wears a red hat, high shoes, waterproof pants that leak at the knees, and has a purple ring around its mouth. It is attached to the washtub by a leather or rope leash, which is padded with a piece of burlap to avoid cutting its neck off as the berry knocker fills the tub. As the day advances, the tub becomes very heavy, but the knocker has no pity, and keeps right on flailing away as it hunts madly for huckleberries.

Human slaves are very loyal to their berry knockers. The only time a slave escapes is when the knocker absently whacks a yellow-jacket's nest into the tub. The frightened slave leaves at high speed, while the tub and the knocker must shift for themselves. It sometimes takes them half an hour to entice the slave back, but it always returns, sneaking up like a whipped dog, which it smells like. Berry knockers try to avoid this situation, because it costs money in lost time. It also depresses them to see how suddenly they are abandoned.

The best purple berry knockers are of Madrona wood. They are shaped to better hang onto their slaves. They require little care and are afraid of nothing but fire. Tennis rackets, curry combs, iron pipe, and leather gloves have been tried, but the thoroughbred Madrona berry knocker seems to stand the test of time best. They usually hibernate from December to the following October, yet are wide awake when the berries are ripe. They are very dependable.

He is leaving to take on an administrative post with the Village Missions organization. They will live in Rochester, Washington. They will be missed by the congregation who encourage them to keep in touch.

SHANNON FLEMING MARRIES MARK HILL

FLEMING-HILL WEDDING

The marriage of Shannon May Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Fleming to Mark Raymond Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Hill of Ellensburg was celebrated on September 8th at the bride's parents' home overlooking Case Inlet at Vaughn.

The Rev. D.M. Meekhof of Ellensburg officiated. Shannon's gown was of candle-light quiana with lace appliques on the bodice and short train. Her illusion veil was held by a coronet of rose buds and she carried a bouquet of cream-colored rosebuds and baby's breath. As the "something old" she also carried her father's grandmother's handkerchief.

The bride's sisters, Devon Rickbaugh and Kathy Fleming were her attendants and wore similar gowns of flowered quiana and carried bouquets of darker rosebuds and baby's breath.

You., Keegan Rickbaugh, the bride's nephew, was ring bearer.

The groom was attended by Arthur Hansen, as best man and Todd Hill, his brother.

Special wedding music was by the couple's close friends, Jan Salzer and Tom Schmuck of Ellensburg.

A reception following the wedding was held at the Key Peninsula Civic Center. About 200 guests attended.

The bride is a graduate of Central Washington University and works now as Room Coordinator at the Providence Medical Center in Seattle.

The groom attended Central Washington University and will be a student at the Birnley School of Commercial Art in Seattle.

After a wedding trip to Victoria B.C. the young couple are living in Seattle.

Little by LITTLE

by Ruth Little

One Tuesday evening last month, Eleanor and Henry Stock invited the duplicate bridge players to play bridge at the new house, located on a woodsy hillside facing Mt. Rainier in the Rocky Bay area. Henry just finished building it.

It was a delightful evening; everyone admired the house which is very unusual. I like the handmade ceiling light and the clever wooden closet door latch which Henry designed and made. It's definitely not meant for someone who like neighbors breathing down his neck and a house similar to all the others in the development.

Her dryer was full of fruit (prunes, pears, apples) being dried for snacks next winter; her freezer was full of frozen peas, beans, corn and other vegetables; her hands were stained from making jams and jellies; a window sill was filled with sparkling jellies--as beautiful as any work of art.

A figment of my imagination? No, just one of the many women who are successful mothers and homemakers--a job that requires talent, dedication and much hard work.

In contrast let me tell you of another woman, mother of five, a capable office manager to whom I offered my surplus apples. Her reply was, "Thanks so much, but busy as I am, we always buy canned applesauce". Just think of those poor children having to miss delicious homemade Gravenstein applesauce for the tasteless products she's feeding them!

Perhaps being an efficient homemaker is too big a job for some women--is the reason they give it up for other work. (Don't bother to write or call to tell me all the reasons you work outside the home. I'm not criticizing you at all. Remember I worked outside my home for forty years.)

This must be the year of the prune and the pear. Trees that haven't produced for years were loaded and isn't it remarkable how a tree can produce a bumper crop at the ripe old age of 40 or 50 years?

Savanne Shirley called me to tell me the pears had her buried and to feel free to come and pick as many as I could use. In the 1940's, Irene Lustie lived on that place and she also offered me all the pears I could use.

Pears are my favorite fruit. Knowing this, Kathie Armstrong showed me a clipping about pears that she has pasted in the front of her cookbook. I liked it so much I copied it; so here it is:

Say this about pears: they are sensitive, easily damaged, generally expensive, hard to appraise from the outside and their ripeness is so criticized that it is said one may have to sit up all night --just waiting--to eat the perfect one. Say all that and try to remember the last time you heard a gourmet exclaim, "What a marvelous banana!" Lesser fruit may be more rugged but when pears are perfect--buttery, succulent and subtle--they soar.

Vaughn Garden Club

At the September meeting, members and guests of the Vaughn Garden Club enjoyed an interesting and informative demonstration by Olga Fuste, county extension agent. Mrs. Fuste spoke on the nutritional values and dehydration of fruits and vegetables. Many listeners remarked after the program that they felt filled with useful information. The Garden Club wishes to thank the Civic Center Board for providing the meeting room for this subject of wide interest.

Last year's president, Barbara Richards, was presented with a gift from the club by Beulah Kupka, the current president.

On October 18, members will meet at Ailine Anderson's Lakebay home, with Florence Jones and Darlene Brown serving as co-hostesses. The program, to be presented by Eleanor Stock and with member participation, is "Putting your Garden to Bed."

Meet at the Civic Center at 10:10 to pool rides and get directions to Ailine's house.

VAUGHN WOMEN RETURN FROM CONVENTION

Past National President of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of World War I, Ora R. Afdem of Lakebay, has just returned from the 27th National Convention held in Hot Springs, Arkansas from August 29 to September 7. She was accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. S.I. Rickert of South Vaughn.

Both women toured the surrounding area of low mountains and Mineral Springs. Mrs. Rickert, as a member of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International - holding positions at local, state and international levels - visited women of a Hot Springs Chapter.

As soon as this Indian Summer weather ends and our normal rain and cool weather begins your tulip bulbs can be planted. These interesting bulbs will provide brilliant spring color for a full three months if you plant a variety of types.

The huge Emperor and several of the small specie varieties start the season in March. April brings the Darwins, the doubles or peony flowered followed by the Breeders and some of the newer types; the Parrot, lily flowered fringed and multi-flowered. This last variety produces three to six flowers to cone stem.

tulips show off best in your garden when planted in drifts, not in rows. Go easy on the fertilizer. A small amount of bone meal or superphosphate and a handful of sharp sand in the bottom of each hole, which should be six to eight inches deep, will provide ample food and the necessary sharp drainage. Do not use manures of peat.

Since mice and gophers love tulips, it is wise to make baskets of hardware cloth, about 1/2" in mesh, sink them with the open top flush with the ground surface, fill with soil and plant your bulbs inside. Burrowing moles cannot get in so mice which use the mole runs are foiled. They are not smart enough to go over the top.

Unfortunately, tulips are not long lived in this climate. Three years is about their limit.

If you want early bloom, tulips respond well to pot forcing. Plant three to five bulbs in a six inch pot now. Bury it to the brim in a protected place outdoors. Leave it for six to eight weeks. They must be thoroughly chilled. Tulips will not bloom without several weeks of cold. Then bring them inside and by January you should have a pot of bloom.

If you plan to move trees or shrubs or add new ones to your garden be sure your planting holes are deeply dug and thoroughly watered.

The rains we have had have permeated only a few inches. A large well-fertilized, and mulched hole will repay you well with a healthy flourishing tree or shrub. Here you can use compost, peat or manure and any well-balanced fertilizer.

JOIN THE BLOOD DRIVE

The KPH Clinic and Fire Dept. are co-sponsoring a Blood Drive for the Key Peninsula Account. A minimum of 20 volunteer donors is needed to ensure that we can continue to provide in case of need to families in fire dist. #16. It will be on Sat. Nov. 3, 10-2pm. Call 884-2757 for appointment to give blood or ask about a need for blood.

THANKS TO MANY HELPERS!!!

On Pioneer Day, I want to say Thank You to all the girls who helped serve in the Concession stand: Mary Cole, Mary Siedleman, Jane Van Slyke, Shirl Olson and Larry Alvar who helped with the cold pop.

Teresa Cornman and Tammy Cole who made the cotton candy and Bob and Betty Beal, who served the ice cream all deserve our thanks.

We are sorry that a few people got some cold hamburgers. This was due to the fact that we had to run from the kitchen to the concession stand and they just couldn't remain hot long enough.

Also to the ladies who helped in the kitchen on the day of the Salmon Derby: Jane Van Slyke, Edith Johnson and Helen Lawson our sincere thanks and appreciation. To Teresa Cornman and Tammy Cole who also made cotton candy cones on that day we want to say thanks.

JUDY WILSON, CHIEF GRAY BACK OF THE COOTIETTE CLUB HOLDS HANDCRAFTED DRIFTWOOD DISPLAY

Judy Wilson and the faithful members of her Cootiette Club are diligently preparing driftwood and shell centrepieces and favors for the State Convention to be held in Ellensburg on October 6th and 7th.

The Cootiettes always have a good time at their functions, and even their work parties like the one pictured below, but they retain their goals as a charitable organization working for patients in nursing homes and hospitals.
